*“Identity Management in Cross-Cultural Health Care:
The communicative practices of interpreters”*

Seminar Presented by:

Elaine Hsieh, PhD

Assistant Professor

Department of Communication and
Faculty, Clinical and Translational Sciences Society,
Health Sciences Center, University of Oklahoma

Dr. Hsieh's primary research focus is bilingual health care communication in minority and limited English proficiency populations. She has explored how interpreters, providers, patients, and family members work together in intercultural health care contexts, and how individuals use social support and address health literacy challenges.
